

Saltburn Gill

An easy flattish walk of about 2 miles (3km) occasionally muddy with steep steps at the far end. There is a charge for car-parking but there are public toilets and cafés nearby

In 1272 a Mill was recorded at Saltburn. By 1304 there were four watermills and one windmill

Pendulous

Saltburn Gill is one of the best ancient woodlands in the UK; a designated Site of Special Scientific Interest. It is now managed by Tees Valley Wildlife Trust.

Supported by The National Lottery® through the Heritage Lottery Fund

more information at woodlanddiaries.teeswildlife.org

③

Berries green then
Berries red in late summer

⑤ The tallest of tall oak trees

Wild Cherry

⑥

Cherry Gall

⑧

on Oak leaves

④ Where the path starts to rise look down to see a ditch. In 1853 this is where the beck flowed into the Mill race.

⑤ Steps

⑥ Steps

⑦

⑧

BRIDLE PATH

PATH TO BROTTON

0 100 metres

Saltburn Gill